

ETHICAL STATEMENT:

Ethical Statement for International Journal of literature, Linguistics and Translation Studies (IJLLTS):

I verify by myself and on the behalf of all the co-authors that the manuscript which have submitted to International Journal of Literature, Linguistics and Translation Studies (IJLLTS) is our original work.

Title of the Manuscript:

Author/s Name:

International Journal of literature, Linguistics and Translational Studies (IJLLTS) considers only original manuscript/articles and contents that have not been previously published and/or is not currently being considered for publication in another journal and if found so must be withdrawn before being submitted elsewhere. It is the author(s) responsibility to ensure that the manuscript/research report and all other data contain enough detail and references to the sources of information. Moreover, all the authors should be personally involved in the original/practical work leading to manuscript, hold themselves jointly and individually responsible for the materials and contents they provide to IJLLTS.

Submitted manuscripts/articles that are found to have either fictitious or false experimental results, including the manipulation of images, will incur paper rejection. IJLLTS is also careful about the redundant publications. Redundant publications involve the inappropriate division of study outcomes into several articles. The redundant material will be rejected or a request will be made to merge submitted manuscripts, and the correction of published articles. IJLLTS also rejects the manuscripts that contain offensive, libelous, defamatory, indecent, fake, or illegitimate and the whole responsibility will be on authors.
